This period forecourted terrace presents a rare and exciting opportunity for buyers seeking a full renovation project. Having stood empty for approximately 20 years, the property now requires an extensive programme of modernisation and upgrading, offering significant scope to create a stunning home tailored to individual tastes.

Despite its current condition, the property retains a wealth of original period features, including high ceilings, decorative coving, traditional skirtings, and picture rails, all of which provide a charming foundation for restoration.

The accommodation comprises a living room, dining room, and a larger-than-average kitchen to the ground floor. To the first floor are two well-proportioned double bedrooms and a bathroom. There is also excellent potential to extend into the loft space, subject to the necessary planning permissions.

Externally, the property benefits from a generous rear walled courtyard with double timber gates, offering the potential for off-street parking. The courtyard backs directly onto Howe Hill allotments, providing a pleasant open aspect. To the front, on-street parking is available.

Situated in the popular Poppleton Road area of York, this is an ideal opportunity for investors or buyers looking to restore a characterful home in a sought-after location.
